Extract of report of Inspector of National Schools—

The boys school gives
" satisfactory evidence of being " carefully taught. Reading, Writing " and Arithmetic, including Tables are in " a very satisfactory state. Grammar " and Geography require a little more " attention. On the whole however

I am much pleased with this part of the school. The girls school though in a more satisfactory state than at former visits is not up to the standard of the boys school in the accurate knowledge of tables and elementary rules of arithmetic: especially in second class. In other respects this department is in a fairly efficient state.
 Needlework seems to be taught to all old enough to learn.

In accordance with your instructions I proceeded to Cleypdu and found that not a vestige of medicines remained in what was the Dispensary - after a good deal of trouble - I agreed for a room for the purpose of a Temporary Dispensary at one pound £1 per month - conditionally that the place was put in proper order and to the entire satisfaction of the Medical Officer -

After every inquiry the Medical Officer was unable to procure any description of a habitable residence on the Island.

Yours faithfully
