His Officer's report. 23/3/10

Gentlemen

With regard to the extras—milk, whiskey and Porter consumed in the Infirmary, I have to state that I consider the extras necessary—especially milk.

We have two paying and 26 Ordinary patients at present in the Hospital. Most of them are very old and infirm and have been transferred by your directions from the male and female infirm wards in order to relieve congestion in these wards.

I have to report a large shortage of milk in the Infirmary during the last three weeks amounting to something like 140 pints consequently you cannot complain of excessive consumption of milk. To make up for this deficiency I propose to give an egg to each patient until a more plentiful supply of milk is procured.

Yr obedient servant
P. C. Gorham

P.S.

There are 7 infants in the house who are in receipt of 1 quart of milk daily

The Reports of the Visiting Committees were read, and Orders were made thereon as follows:—

5th Apr

I am after administering the last Sacrament to Martin Lynch who was recently a patient in the Workhouse Hospital here and who he said was obliged to leave the Hospital owing to the great noise and disorderly conduct continued night after night by some of the patients in the Ward, they he says being constantly under the influence of drink got by them out in town. It is certainly in my opinion more than advisable that patients supposed to be ill and under the Doctor's care should be confined to the Hospital or within the Workhouse grounds and not be let out to town. where on more occasions than one I have seen them comport themselves in a way unbecoming the sick ~~poor~~ or the deserving poor.

P. McElpine V.C.

Referred to the Visiting Committee

5th — 7:30: — What met my gaze this evening both as to Hospital patients returning from town under the influence of drink, and afterwards finding them in the female portion of the House is only equalled by the black faced drunken conduct of persons seeking admission to the House and this sometimes fortified by letters of admission from the Relieving Officer.

All this shows the necessity for firm dealing with such persons and with greater exactness as to supervision

P. McElpine

Referred to the Visiting Committee
